

Fairey Swordfish camouflage

Camouflage Scheme "A". This was used as a general pattern with Extra Dark Sea Grey and Dark Slate Grey on the upper surfaces of the top wing and fuselage. Scheme "B" was a mirror image

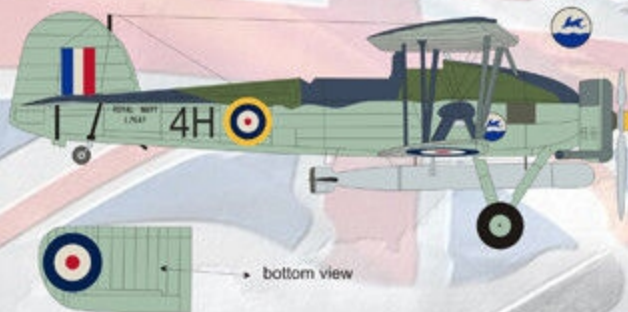

Fairey Swordfish

CAT# 48091
PRINT SCALE
www.printscale.org

Scale 1/48

- 1 Fairey Swordfish I L7647:4H
820 Squadron, HMS Ark Royal, 1941. Scheme 3

- 2 Swordfish Mk.III Part: 119 Sqn, RAF Number: NH-F (NF410)
Knocke, Le Zoute, Belgium, 1945 The aircraft is equipped with ASV radar and armed with 113 kg bombs. Painted entirely in black. Squadron machines used against E-and R-boats (?). Were about the Dutch coast.

Overall: Gloss Black

- 3 Fairey Swordfish II LS274;1F of 818 Squadron, 1945. Modified Type C1 roundel and fin flash for operations in Far Eastern waters, Scheme 4

- 4 Fairey Swordfish III NF374;NH-M, No-119 Squadron, RAF, based at Bircham Newton, 1945

- 5 Swordfish Mk.II 816 NAS, FAANumber: S (NF243)July 1944
Camouflage fuselage and lower surfaces - white, upper surface - the old standard color. The aircraft is marked with a thin band of white invasion okaemkoy on the fuselage and wings. Markings on the fuselage - the type C1, on the upper wing - type B, on the ground - no.

the lower wing bottom view

the lower wing view from the top

the top wing bottom view

top wing view from the top

